

MAKE FOOD WITH LOVE

KALBARRI COOKERY SCHOOL

Kalbarri is a family-run cookery school and catering business operating from Kilcullen in Co. Kildare. We want our guests to experience creating and serving dishes with a difference, bursting with flavour and colour. Siobhan's unique style of teaching is about 'seeing' and 'doing' as she guides groups effortlessly along using cup measurements for her uncomplicated recipes. The warm and inviting atmosphere in our kitchen helps bring our guests together over a love of all things food while the circular layout in Kalbarri is cleverly designed stimulating support among group members.

The hands-on approach

WHO ARE THE CLASSES FOR?

Our cookery school welcomes people of all ages and abilities looking to build confidence or improve their knowledge of food. We run classes for children from primary to secondary school, instilling a solid foundation in the basics of baking and cooking. Our adult classes are beautifully tailored for both beginners and those with experience, from visiting groups from abroad looking for the secret ingredient to perfect “Irish Soda bread” to those simply looking to try out some new recipes. We also cater for baking birthday parties for all age groups.

With her ‘hands-on’ approach, Siobhan believes all age groups better understand and retain the science of baking when shown visually so her classes are also ideal for people with learning disabilities keen to enhance their cooking skills in an integrated setting. Groups get to experience Kalbarri hospitality, sampling some of its amazing fare after class together at the “Kalbarri Table”.
